Report on the Activity of the Open Society Fund - Sofia in 1991

During 1991 the Open Society Fund - Sofia strengthened its position as an active organization with considerable contribution to the processes of democratization, economic reforms and opening of the Bulgarian society to the developed and civilized world.

The foundation worked mainly on 15 programs: Long-Term Scholarships Abroad, Short-Term Scholarships, Conferences and Seminars Abroad, Economic Reform, State and Civil Society, Journalism and Media, Libraries and Specialized Literature, Foreign Language Training, New Bulgarian Universities, Central European Program, Specialized Seminars, Publishing Program, Foreign experts, Open Program and the new program Friends of Bulgaria. At the end of the reporting period the Board of Trustees adopted a sixteenth program - Friends of the Open Society; its realization will start in 1992.

For accounting purposes the establishment of a 17th program - Providing Equipment for Temporary Use appeared to be necessary.

Two of the programs were priorities during the year: American University in Bulgaria and Libraries and Specialized Literature.

Last year, 1813 project applications were submitted to the foundation and 1258 of them were supported. 858 of them were individual projects - mainly for undergraduate study (119), specializations and graduate study (238), and participation in conferences and seminars (456). The number of the collective projects was 400. These were research and educational projects as well as support for libraries, universities, cultural activities and mass media, sponsorships for meetings and conferences held in Bulgaria, publishing projects, assistance to newly founded civic organizations, etc.

Undoubtedly, the most significant projects supported by the foundation were the founding of the American University in Bulgaria and the New Bulgarian University, the international conferences "Creation of New Capital Markets in Eastern Europe" and "Telecommunications in Eastern Europe", the journalist seminars, the projects for developing information systems in the St. Cyril and Methodius National Library and the Sofia University Library, equipping a computer hall in the Librarian Institute, the start of the Letter from Bulgaria bulletin and the publishing unit of the foundation, the organizing of the Bulgarian-American Association of Business Education.

OPEN SOCIETY FUND SOFIA

The Foundation invested $ 1 036 000 and approximately 8 million BGL (Bulgarian Leva) in these projects. The Foundation raised $ 5 063 000 and 52 million BGL as additional funds for its projects through its activities and contacts in the country and abroad.

The results of the Foundation's activities should not be limited only to amounts granted. In many cases the financial assistance was not large, but provided opportunities for creative work and gaining of knowledge; it also stimulated belief in and approval of the democratic changes, social activity, improving the country's image abroad, etc.

In 1991 the staff of the Foundation increased to 32 full-time and 13 part-time members, 6 of whom students. Two offices of the Foundation were opened in Plovdiv and Varna. A third one is to be opened in Veliko Tirnovo. The staff has proved it can work hard and with dedication. Their efforts are by far the most important factor for the good results we are reporting.

An important element in the functioning of the Foundation is the activity of the Board of Directors. It is the day-to-day decision making body and bears the ultimate responsibility for the approval of all the project proposals. No matter how complicated the selection procedure was, we can say with confidence that the Board of Directors based its decisions on the principles of openness, equal opportunity and good will towards all applicants regardless of their social position, political affiliations or personal contacts.

For the past year and a half the Foundation gained undisputable public prestige and popularity; still, it faces some basic problems, such as:

- ☐ Defining the Foundation's scope of activities. The diversity of the needs and the Foundation's high standing in the country and abroad creates great opportunities for diverse activity. In some cases this causes reaching into too many spheres, hence the danger of work with no evident effect. A better focussing of activities on better defined current priority problems of society is needed. Information and opportunities for coordinated effort should be given to similar organizations, whose number increases under the new conditions.

- ☐ Restructuring of the budget and reduction of the share of grants for long-term scholarships and specializations abroad in favor of shorter and more directly efficient forms; principally, an increase in the number of in-country projects.

- ☐ Enhancing local interest and cooperation. With the assistance of its offices and the currently organized "Open Society Clubs" network, the Foundation hopes to enlarge its range of activities outside the capital and support local projects.

- ☐ Developing projects with other European countries, especially with EC members. The successful contacts with British and Spanish organizations should be stabilized and expanded.

- ☐ Increasing the role of the program coordinators and experts of the Foundation in taking decisions. Insufficient preparation of the sessions of the Board of Directors by the coordinators, with the increase of the amount of work, may lead to badly grounded decisions.

- ☐ Financial stabilization of the Foundation. Persistent efforts for the increase of the endowment of the Foundation are necessary.

This report was approved at a session of the Board of Trustees of the Open Society Fund - Sofia on January 18, 1992.
